Notes: Question text may vary slightly across survey datasets, but not, roughly speaking, by more than the translation differences across languages found in the cross-national survey dataset. Lower values of dispersion ( $\alpha$ ) indicate questions that better identify publics with more public gender egalitarianism from those with less. Items have one difficulty score ( $\beta$ ) for each cutpoint; that is, one less than the number of response categories. Survey dataset codes correspond to those used in the `DCP0tools` package.
